

MEMO CENTRAL WESTERN MAINE WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT BOARD

DATE: JULY 14, 2020

TO: Craig Nelson, Chair, and the CWMWDB

FROM: Stacy Kilroy Reynaldo, Executive Director

SUBJECT: Recommendations to Award RFP 2020-01 & RFP 2020-02 to EMDC

SUMMARY

The reason for his memo is to provide information on the selection of a One Stop Operator and recipient of Maine Department of Labor PY 20 Employment and Training Administration funds for the Adult, Dislocated Worker, and Youth Programs in Androscoggin, Franklin, Kennebec, Oxford, and Somerset counties. The total amount to be awarded is $1,522,416

BACKGROUND & RATIONALE FOR PROCUREMENT METHOD

Consistent with Federal, State or Local Area regulations, a competitive procurement process is required for the selection of a One-Stop Operator once every four years and the selection of subrecipients to provide WIOA program services once every three years. This process has not happened for at least ten years.

On May 11, 2020, to satisfy these requirements, the CWMWDB issued RFP 2020-01 for a One Stop Operator and Adult/DW Program services provider and RFP 2020-02 for a Youth Program service provider. The anticipated funding amount of over $550,000 for the youth program contract and nearly $1 million for the OSO/Adult contract are both over the Simplified Acquisition Threshold of $150,000. This makes each of these procurement processes a Level 1 acquisition.

The competitive proposal process is the preferred method for procuring goods and program services costing more than the current Single Acquisition Threshold such as a Level 1 acquisition. The competitive proposal process is the required process for procuring a One Stop Operator.

There are three types of competitive request processes that the CWMWDB can use for a Level 1 acquisition. There are requests for bids, requests for qualifications and requests for proposals. The type chosen is a request for proposal as the services in question have qualitative and quantitative characteristics. This method allows consideration of both.

PROPOSAL APPLICATIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Detailed proposal documents and sample forms were assembled by CWMWDB staff and reviewed by MDOL prior to public release on May 11, 2020.

The proposal notices were widely promoted on social media. There were three published public notices in three newspapers, two press releases distributed to numerous online sources, five entries in Maine public archives and numerous promotions and native posts on Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, and Instagram. The RFP notice was posted on the website of the National Association of Workforce Boards and MDOL's Facebook page.

An optional bidder conference was held for each RFP on June 1, 2020. Question and answer procedures were established and used. An information notification procedure via email to bidders was used. Guidelines for ethical conduct were explicitly communicated.

SCORING

A Selection Committee of five advanced career workforce development industry experts was chosen in September 2019. This process was updated and discussed at quarterly board meetings of the CWMWDB and at "Executive Committee" and Chief Elected Official meetings. An RFP Chair was designated from the Board. Pursuant to the RFP Chair's instructions, an instructional packet advising each Selection Committee member of their role in the WIOA RFP process was emailed out on March 22, 2020.

On May 27, 2020, the Selection Committee was educated further in the particulars of our WIOA RFPs and the Scoring Process in Meeting 1. They used a detailed scoring matrix for the proposal elements. This matrix was part of each RFP and is attached to this memo. The nationally renowned Baldridge Framework of Excellence for Nonprofits scoring methodology was used for scoring guidance.

The Selection Committee held a total three meetings with each other. As mentioned above, the first meeting was instructional to review each RFP, the score sheet and the Baldridge scoring guidance. The next two meetings involved discussion of the submitted proposals. Each Selection Committee member scored their own proposal and came to their own opinion using the scoring tool and its points as a guide.

It was decided by the Selection Committee that only applications that addressed the whole scope of the RFP would be considered in this process. Two of the five youth responses sought partial funding so therefore were not continued. This left three respondents in each of the two RFP categories: Eastern Maine Development Corporation, Goodwill and Western Maine Community Action.

There was a group discussion on each RFP. The process was wrapped up as each Selection Committee member disclosed their ranked bottom firms, not by score, but by ordinal - 3. The purpose was to see if there was consensus on who was not the selection so that discussion could be focused on the better perceived firms. The committee discussed their top ranked firm, ordinal - 1. There was a clear perceived winner. Scoring illustrative of the individual process and deliberation to rank each firm is posted on http://cwmwdb.org/rfpresults/

The Chair asked several questions of the committee members to ensure a bona fide and accurate result. Once satisfied, the Chair declared the floor open. A motion was made and seconded to recommend the results to the CWMWDB for action.

RESULTS

There were three proposals submitted in response to RFP 2020-01. There were five proposals submitted in response to RFP 2020-02. The Selection Committee unanimously, 5-0, recommended that the CWMWDB award funding for both RFP 2020-01 and RFP 2020-02 to the Eastern Maine Development Corporation.

NEW YORK — Is Wall Street blind?

The global economy is in shambles, the coronavirus pandemic has killed more than 248,000 worldwide and 30 million Americans have lost their jobs as collateral damage in the fight against COVID-19, with the tallies all rising by the day.

Yet, the U.S stock market just rocketed to its best month in a generation.

While it's most definitely wild, Wall Street is also a collection of investors who are continually looking ahead, setting prices for stocks at the moment based on where they expect corporate profits and the economy will be a quarter or two into the future.

From February into late March, investors sent the S&P 500 down by nearly 34%, anticipating that the number of jobless workers would explode and the economy would tumble into recession. Then in April, as gruesome economic figures confirmed those fears. investors instead focused on a few strands of optimism for the future.

Through Monday's morning trading, the S&P 500 has surged nearly 26% since hitting a low on March 23, which was the same week that the government reported a record number of U.S. workers filed for unemployment benefits, nearly 6.9 million.

When clients have called in recently at Villere & Co., an investment adviser in New Orleans, they usually start with one question, said Sandy Villere, a portfolio manager at the firm.

"They ask: Aren't we going into a recession?" he said. "I say, 'Yes, but the stock market has already gone through the recession, and now it's coming out of the recession."

Among the reasons the market chose to look ahead:

 The Federal Reserve came to the rescue, again.

A famous saying on Wall Street says: Don't fight the Fed. The central bank is near zero to the unprecedented promise to buy even riskier corporate debt. It's all aimed at ensuring lending markets have enough cash to run smoothly and prevent prices from going haywire.

Investors say that's eliminated the worst-case scenario for markets: a collapse reminiscent of the 2008 financial crisis. And even a deeply divided Capitol Hill has come together to send trillions of dollars into the economy, hoping to fill the cavern created by the shutdown of business-

• Infections have leveled off in some areas, and reopenings are on the horizon.

In the hard-hit state of New York, the number of hospitalizations for the virus has dropped back to where it was a month ago after peaking in mid-April.

Some states around the country have laid out plans to gradually relax restrictions meant to slow the spread of the virus. Georgia has been at the forefront, already allowing barber shops, gyms and nail salons to reopen.

"This is first and foremost a health crisis, so any trend lines of improvement are good, even if they're hidden within really terrible human loss numbers,' said Nela Richardson, investment strategist at Edward Jones.

"That was a relative silver lining," he said. "We know unemployment is going to spike. When you look beneath the surface at unemployment you can look at how much is temporarv.'

History shows that stocks usually begin heading back up even as the economy is still heading down. The S&P 500 typically begins rising four and a half months before the economy hits bottom in a recession, according to Lindsey Bell, chief investment strategist at Ally Invest.

Consider the Great Recession: Stocks began what would become the longest bull run on record in March 2009, when corporate profits were still tumbling and layoffs were still rising. The unemployment rate wouldn't hit its peak until seven months later.

However, many professional investors have been skeptical of this rally, giv-

If a second wave of infections hits, businesses could shut down again as fast as they open. Stocks are no longer cheap following their strong recent run. And worries still loom about companies defaulting on their debt after a borrowing binge left them with a mountain of $9.6 trillion in outstanding bonds..

The stock market also has a patchy history in predicting the end of recessions, just like it has predicted nine of the last five recessions, as famed economist Paul Samuelson once quipped.

After hitting a low in November 2008 shortly after Lehman Brothers collapsed during the financial crisis, the S&P 500 rallied more than 24% in about seven weeks. But that rally proved to be illusory, and the market gave out again, plummeting nearly 28% before finally hitting bottom in March.

EVICTION, RENT AND MORTGAGES

Gov. Janet Mills has signed an executive order to help Mainers stay in their homes and keep businesses open during the state of emergency. The order prevents the immediate eviction of tenants other than those who engage in dangerous or unlawful conduct. It also strengthens the penalties for landlords who may try to evict tenants illegally, and extends the time frame for the eviction process in case courts reopen before the state of emergency is terminated.

The state has partnered with MaineHousing to create the COVID-19 Rent Relief Program for Mainers who cannot pay their rent because of the coronavirus outbreak. The $5 million program will allow households that meet certain income and ability to pay requirements to receive a one-time payment up to $500 to be paid directly to their landlord. More information can be found at mainehousing. org/programs-services/rental/ rentaldetail/covid-19-rentalrelief-program

Mills also urged financial institutions to work with homeowners and small businesses. Mills asked them to avoid initiating residential and commercial foreclosures and pause any open proceedings during this time.

INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT THE CDC

The federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has a lot of useful information at its coronavirus website, including a section dedicated to stress and coping. Other important topics addressed include symptoms and testing, prevention and what to do if you become sick. The web address is: cdc.gov/ coronavirus/2019-nCoV/index. html.
